“For decades, ambitious women were advised to observe male behavior for examples of how to succeed and lead in professional arenas. But now we’re coming full circle. When it comes to tapping group brainpower...it turns out that behaviors that tend to be intuitive to females, i.e. emotional intelligence – significantly impact the quality of a group’s decision-making.”

— Anne Doyle, “What Makes Teams Smarter? More Women, says Harvard Business Review”

Intentional Leadership has proven extremely successful in developing leadership and positive and effective company cultures. The model is grounded in the principles of:

Self Awareness | Creating awareness of how perspectives influence results.

Emotional Intelligence | Identifying, assessing, and managing one’s emotions to create best results.

Peak Performance | Managing wellness and energy for a higher quality of life and effectiveness.

Vision | Creating a compelling and inspiring vision for the future of the organization.

Relationship Building | Creating mutually beneficial, effective relationships.

Accountability | Inspiring a sense of ownership, initiative, confidence and commitment to the vision and values of the organization.

Intentional Leadership for Women

An increasing number of organizations are recognizing that developing the natural strengths and leadership of women creates a powerful competitive advantage.

Intentional Leadership for Women is an intensive development program in which women develop their vision, leadership skills and communication style to make a measurable impact in their organization.

The program will address many foundational elements of effectiveness, some of which include:

- Leading with personal vision, confidence, and strengths
- Developing mentoring, coaching and partnering skills
- Developing authentic expression and versatile communication style
- De-compartmentalizing and integrating personal interests, career and family
- Shifting from competition to collaboration
- Understanding how gender, age, and culture can influence behavior and results
- Increasing choices, options, organization and versatility
- Engaging others, delegating and communicating effectively

Developing these core areas increases participants’ ability to increase personal performance, satisfaction and engagement and creates breakthrough results in the following areas:

Team Building | Executive Presence | Coalition Building | Efficiency & Productivity | Morale
Personal Balance & Wellness | Business Development | Building Trust and Partnerships
Developing and Coaching Others

“There is a steady benefit that is earned by making wise, balanced investments in developing women as workers and potential leaders...”

- Candice Silverstone, Deloitte LLP
